I am very happy to have finished the manuscript titled "the practice of hydrological restoration to rehabilitate abandoned shrimp ponds in Bunaken National Park, Northern Sulawesi, Indonesia. The main idea behind this manuscript is to establish the best practice in restoring already deprave mangrove ecosystem. Natural established mangrove species at the restored site may be important in supporting conservation of mangrove biodiversity. I am hoping that the manuscript would be published in Biodiversitas Journal.

Best regards,

Rignolda Djamaluddin

Dear, Mr. Ahmad Dwi Setyawan

The manuscript has been corrected for most of the comments (file attached) with two notices (e.g. figure 9 is the result of analysis not an original images already in the method, comment R11 - it is authors' interpretation not from other). In general, most of the comments are good for the manuscript.
