Dear Henry F. Aritonang,

Your article, Biotemplated synthesis of Ag-ZnO nanoparticles/bacterial cellulose nanocomposites for photocatalysis application, published in Polymer-Plastics Technology and Materials, Volume 59 Issue 12, is now available for you to access via tandfonline.com.

You will have permanent, free access to the final published version of your article via your Authored Works, our dedicated center for all Taylor & Francis authors. This is where you can view all articles published in our journals, check how many people have viewed them, see their citations, and check your Altmetric data. Haven't registered for your Authored Works yet? Find out how.

Have you used your free eprints yet?

Now you're published, you'll hopefully want to share your article with friends or colleagues. Every author at Taylor & Francis (including all co-authors) gets 50 free online copies of their article to share with their networks. Your eprint link is now ready to use and is:

<https://www.tandfonline.com/eprint/MYCQHJZB7XFCW23XEA4X/full?target=10.1080/25740881.2020.1738470>

You can share this any way you want, and author feedback tells us this is a highly effective way of highlighting your research. Using this link also means we can track your article's downloads and citations, so you can measure its impact. Find out more about sharing your work, and how you can work with us to highlight your article.

If you have any problems accessing your Taylor & Francis Online account, or using your eprints, please contact us.

Kind regards,

Stewart Gardiner
