Dear Dr. Jimmy Rimbing,

Thank you for submitting the manuscript The Release of Trichogrammatoidea armigera Nagaraja in the Parasitization of Helicoverpa (Hübner) Eggs on Maize Plants. Your manuscript has been carefully evaluated by the editor of Indian Journal of Agricultural Research to inform you that the Editor doesn't find the article as per standards and theme of the journal. Due to the present limit on the number of articles published, we are unable to accept all papers of merit. Since editorial decisions are based on several considerations, We are sorry to inform you that your manuscript can be given no further editorial consideration in this journal.

However, Editor believe that the article is a candidate for potential publication in Agricultural Science Digest, a peer-reviewed and indexed journal which aims to publish articles of international relevance and excellence from across the spectrum of related research. For more details about the journal on <https://arccjournals.com/journals>

To agree to transfer your manuscript to the journal, please send the reply of this email. You are requested to send the article as per attached the journal only.
